

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. William Hanscom were hosts at an attractive little informal dinner party last night, followed by an evening of music.

Mrs. K. S. Munra, more familiarly known to her hosts of friends in Pendleton as "Grandma" Munra, was hostess yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at charming and beautifully appointed luncheon at the Hotel Pendleton. Centering the table was a lovely bouquet of delicate pink carnations, a gift to the hostess from C. M. Bishop. The guests included the intimate friends of Mrs. Munra and much enjoyment was gained from the mutual reminiscences. During the course of the luncheon, a huge cluster of Ophelia roses was presented Mrs. Munra from her guests. Those who were in attendance included Mrs. Laura D. Nash, Mrs. H. E. Bickera, Mrs. B. S. Burroughs, Mrs. W. M. Blakely, Mrs. A. L. Hayes, Mrs. Jessie Palling, Mrs. Lee Moorhouse, Mrs. J. F. Robinson, Mrs. R. Alexander, Miss Margaret Windell, Mrs. Mary La Dow, Mrs. Mattie La Dow, Mrs. N. E. Despain and Mrs. Mary Discaway.

The second of the two afternoons of bridge for which Mrs. John Vaughan, Mrs. H. H. Hattery, Mrs. Wesley N. Matlock and Mrs. W. J. Clarke were hostesses was thoroughly enjoyed yesterday by the large number of guests who thronged the rooms of the attractive Clark home. Twelve tables were again arranged for play, the pretty favors falling to Mrs. W. L. Thompson, who had highest score, and Mrs. I. U. Temple, who received the consolation. A number of additional guests came in at the tea hour, when the hostesses were assisted in serving by Miss Thelma Thompson, Miss Helen Thompson, Miss Gertrude McConnell and Miss Lula Matlock.

Mrs. J. Cannane of Milton, an accomplished reader, is here attending the W. C. T. U. meeting. At the afternoon session yesterday she gave a very enjoyable reading.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kirtley are in Chehalis today attending the funeral of Mrs. Kirtley's mother, who died at Ashland while en route to California for her health. The body was shipped back to the home in Chehalis for burial. The deceased was Mrs. Francis Donahue.—La Grande Observer.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the season was the "weiner roast" and hike given last evening by the members of "Our Hiking Club" to a number of their friends. Around a big bon fire above Riverside, the hikers made merry while "weiners" were roasted and coffee made. The young ladies of the club, who were responsible for the delightful evening were the Misses Esther and Susan Narhaus, Nellie Sloan, Della Ferguson, Ida Wells, Mary Ardis Callison, Vera Cook, Alice Finell, Mildred Houser, Blanch Schroeder, Fern Perrin, Leona Bowman, Anna Guerrant, Esther Embysk, Jaunita Blankenship and Helen Meuna. Mrs. Tucker and Miss Bailey of the faculty acted as chaperones.

Three of the advanced class in high school cookery served a luncheon today at the practice house in honor of Professor Ressler of the Oregon Agricultural College. The following girls were in charge: Misses Velma Smith, Helen Thompson and Gladys Bedwell. The luncheon is not to cost over twenty-five cents a plate. The girls bought the food and were given one hour and twenty minutes to prepare it for ten guests.

Deviating from the usual afternoon meeting, the Jolly Neighbors were entertained this morning at their first session since the summer vacation by Mrs. W. C. E. Pruitt. The guests enjoyed several games of 500 and were then served a dainty luncheon. Mrs. A. J. McAllister was the successful contestant for high honors.

The Current Literature Club will meet with Mrs. I. U. Temple and Mrs. H. E. Ringo on Friday afternoon, at two o'clock, in the library club room.

Henry Weitsch of Echo has been transacting some business here today. A Holman of Eugene is registered at the St. George.

Alfred E. Franz was here from Athens last evening.

John Spain, popular county buckaroo, is in the city today.

Charles P. Mitchell of Walla Walla is a guest of the Pendleton.

Mrs. W. W. Roeder of Freewater was a Pendleton visitor yesterday.

W. S. Ferguson, prominent Athens resident, was an overnight visitor in the city.

Lou Hodgen of Umapine, independent candidate for representative, is in the city.

E. D. Ressler, prominent educator now connected with O. A. C., is a Pendleton visitor.

W. H. Coghill of Freewater, is among the visitors from the east end of the county.

C. F. McConnell and family have moved from the Weston country to their new home north of Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Privett arrived home yesterday from Alaska where they had been for several weeks.

R. J. McKell of the C. L. Ross auto company of Portland, is here in the interest of the Super-Six Hudson car.

George McDonald of Pullman, B. E. Depula of Adams and Mr. Stet of Portland, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Rogers.

Kathryn Williams, who designs all of her own clothing, has decided that this season's riding habit shall be made of high broadcloth, cut distinctly manly.

U. of O.-Montana Debate Dropped. UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Oct. 19.—The University of Oregon and the University of Montana will not debate this year. Instead a triangular meet is sought among U.

of O. Reed College and O. A. C. The State University also meets the University of Washington and Stanford University annually, and enters the various state competitions. Oregon beat Montana in 1915 and lost in 1916.

AFFECTION BARRIED IN SCHOOL BECAUSE OF INFANT PLAGUE

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Don't kiss Gwendolyn good-by. Don't throw your arms around Mamie and hug her just because you've both passed trigonometry, Z-11. Don't even wander around the halls with your arm around your best (girl, of course) friend's waist.

Those are the new rules at Wadleigh high school for girls. Infantile paralysis is partly to blame. The formal notice reads:

"Disease is contracted through personal contact, therefore abstain from demonstration of affection."

WOMAN THIEF BROUGHT TO JAIL BY DOG SLED

U. S. Marshal Travels Seven Days Thru the Arctic Circle, Then by Steamer and Rail to Land His Prisoner in Colorado Penitentiary.

CANON CITY, Colo., Oct. 19.—After a seven days' trip by dog sled through the Arctic circle, followed by a long steamship and train journey, I. T. Erwin, United States marshal for the Northern district of Alaska, arrived here today with a woman prisoner who is to spend three years in the state penitentiary. The woman, who is a native born American, was convicted of robbery. The government has no special prison for women and the accommodations at Canon City are better than those elsewhere, the woman was brought all the way here from an almost inaccessible part of Alaska. This prisoner is the second woman to be brought from Alaska to the Colorado state penitentiary. The other, who has been here several months, is a Chinese-Aleutian woman who was convicted of murdering a United States soldier at Skagway.

Marshal Erwin, whose headquarters are at Fairbanks, Alaska, had to get his prisoner out of the county before the winter set in too severely, so he took her by dog sled from Fairbanks to China, the terminus of the Copper river railroad, a distance of 320 miles. They went by train to Cordova, whence they took ship to Seattle. Before returning to Fairbanks, Marshal Erwin will visit his boyhood home in Cartersville, Ga. Mr. Erwin has lived in Alaska nineteen years.

OCTOBER 28 WILSON DAY

October 28 is to be Wilson Day throughout the United States by decree of Democratic National Chairman Vance McCormick and on that occasion Pendleton will celebrate in fitting style by listening to an evening address by Senator George E. Chamberlain. The address will be given at the Oregon theater and will be the chief event of the Wilson campaign for Pendleton.

Thus far no preparations whatever have been made for any parade or spectacular features such as usually marked the old time political campaigns. Nothing of that sort may be done, says Judge Maloney, Wilson chairman, because he believes people are more interested in the real merits of the campaign than in flummery. However, the band will play in the evening and there may be some musical numbers at the theater in addition to the address by Senator Chamberlain.

Senator Chamberlain is to be in Umatilla county for three days, devot-
